A Masai Mara Sunrise with the iconic Acacia Tree

We ran this identical schedule last year and it was absolutely terrific!

John led his first Kenya photo tour in 1981. That experience changed his life! Over four decades John has led at least 40 tours to photograph wildlife in Kenya's best game parks. The wildlife, people, and overall African experience continues to make Kenya our favorite place to photograph wildlife. Come travel with John and Dixie for the trip of a lifetime! You will have a fabulous time photographing Kenya's wildlife under the expert guidance of John and Dixie along with the help of their favorite hand-picked native Kenya driver-guides.

We will photograph the wildlife at Amboseli, Samburu, and the spectacular Masai Mara. Each park is quite different from the others, and all offer unique wildlife photo opportunities. Amboseli is teeming with an immense variety of birds and mammals that are attracted to the wetlands in the dry environment. Amboseli is known for the largest elephants in Africa and the wetlands are loaded with birds and mammals. Samburu is the desert park where the Ewaso Nyiro river flows through and wildlife abound along this river corridor where water is otherwise scarce in this dry environment. Many species are unique to this park, including Somali ostrich, Beisa oryx, Reticulated giraffe, Grevy's zebra, Gunther's dik-dik and gerenuk. And the abundant birdlife is amazing! We complete our trip with the most days in the grasslands of the Masai Mara that are teeming with mammals and birds, and it is the best place to photograph cheetahs, leopards, and lions.

Everyone wants to photograph the big cats -- cheetah, leopard, and lions. We are always looking for them and will photograph them anytime we find them. Plus, we photograph all the other mammals when they are in photogenic spots and in excellent light. All photo tours do that. Where we are different from other tours is we also photograph numerous colorful birds. Kenya hosts over 1500 bird species, and John can readily identify a few hundred of the species you are most likely to see. John and Dixie are keen to help our participants photograph as many species as possible.

Your Own Row in the Safari Vehicle!

Having a window seat is terrific if the animal is on your side of the vehicle, but not good at all if you wish to successfully photograph an animal on the other side of the vehicle when you have another passenger in front of you. Though it costs more money, each participant has their own row in the vehicle making it easy to photograph out both sides of the vehicle, either from the lower windows or the open roof hatch. This provides ample room for you, your gear, and your access to the wildlife is always excellent.

Fly Between Parks!

Kenya has become more prosperous over the decades. There are far more vehicles using the roads. The congestion on Kenya's roads is incredible. Clouds of dust, diesel fumes, small motorcycles everywhere, stops with super poor restroom facilities are the norm, plus you lose lots of time that is better spent photographing in the game parks where tourist facilities are first-rate. Therefore, to avoid all this and make your wonderful trip the best ever, we have arranged to fly between parks using private charters. Our game-drivers will drive your luggage to the next park, and you will fly carrying just what you need including camera gear until they catch up to us. A couple times, we will take game drives with the camp's drivers when waiting for our driver-guides to arrive at the next camp. While flying does increase the price of your trip, it makes your trip much easier on you! You will love viewing Kenya from the air! Air flights included in the tour price: Nairobi to Amboseli (45 minutes), Amboseli to Samburu (90 minutes), Samburu to Masai Mara (90 minutes), and Masai Mara to Nairobi (45 minutes). Our flights are all private charters, so our group flies together! Flying lets us have more time on game drives and more photo opportunities.

We traveled like this for the first time last year. It is tremendous. We cannot imagine enduring the awful roads when it is so easy to fly from park to park. This is a huge upgrade that makes your trip much better!

Two Nights to Rest Before Visiting the Parks

You will be exhausted after flying for nearly 18 hours from your home to Nairobi, Kenya. You will arrive in the evening and be taken directly to the hotel. Often you will not get to bed until 10pm local time or later. By the next morning you are really not ready to start visiting and photographing in the parks, so we give you the entire day to rest and get a full night to sleep. During the day at the hotel, we meet everyone and teach important photo skills and help you set up your cameras to best advantage.

Expert Driver-guides

We hand pick our driver-guides who are highly experienced and educated. They are especially tuned into the needs of wildlife photographers.

Highly Experienced Tour Guides

Both John and Dixie are super experienced professional photographers. Dixie shoots Nikon and John uses Canon. John and Dixie have taught dozens of photo workshops together over the years and John has led more than 40 photo tours to Kenya beginning in 1981. Kenya is their favorite tour destination!!!! Plus, John and Dixie are both keen bird photographers, so you will photograph more birds on this tour than you expect!

Fly to Amboseli National Park

Fly for approximately 45 minutes southwards across “maasailand” to Amboseli National Park. Met on arrival by your local guide for an exploratory game drive en-route to camp arriving in time for lunch and a further afternoon game drive. The Amboseli ecosystem is unique. No other place in Africa combines the special hydrology, topography, geological and cultural history of Amboseli. Despite modest rainfall, a system of swamps fed by the Kilimanjaro Mountain Forest catchment supports a spectacular array of birds and mammals, dominated in terms of biomass and visibility by a population of some 1400 African elephants. In recognition of Amboseli’s special combination of ecology and culture, UNESCO and the Kenya government designated the region a Man and the Biosphere reserve in 1991 to conserve its biodiversity.

JKIA arrival transfer by private vehicle

Number of Participants

The more participants the better. Group size is planned for 13 people plus John and Dixie. Each safari vehicle is limited to three participants, so everyone has their own row of seats in the Landcruiser. This provides everyone with plenty of room for their gear and it is easy to photograph out both sides of the vehicle. Why are more safari vehicles helpful? On our game drives, we drive to a similar part of the park (these parks are big) but take different trails as we search for the best wildlife photo opportunities. While giraffes, zebras, and gazelles are easily found and photographed, everyone benefits when one of the vehicles finds a pride of lions or baby jackals or leopard or cheetah for example. When a unique wildlife situation is found, the driver radios everyone and soon all of us photograph the special subject. The more vehicles looking, the more likely special subjects are found, and the more special photos everyone captures!

Our Photo Strategy

We are thrilled to lead Kenya wildlife safaris because the weather is typically pleasant, and the wildlife photo opportunities are superb. Of all the workshops John has led over 45 years, Kenya is the most repeated photo tour he offers. Once you experience the best of Kenya game parks, you will likely return! Past clients tell us Kenya is the best trip they have ever taken!!!!

We leave our wonderful lodges a little before sunrise at 6:15 am to see and photograph all the wildlife that are active at this early hour in the best morning light. Around 9am, we eat our packed breakfast somewhere in the field where it is safe to leave the vehicles. We typically stay out on our game drive until about 11:00 am. When we return to the lodge, everyone has time to download images, charge camera batteries, and enjoy a hearty lunch. Since Kenya straddles the equator, the high equatorial sun beats down on you during the middle of the day, so we rest and stay in the shade while hiding from the sun just like the wildlife. Then, depending on the park, we take our afternoon game drive and start about 3:30 pm and stay out till sunset around 6:30 pm. Kenya dinner times are typically around 8pm. Be sure to bring a hat to protect you from the midday sun!

Our game-drivers are close friends who have led us many times before. They know what we want, how to work the light to best advantage, are a joy to be with and offer a wealth of knowledge about Kenya and wildlife in particular. They are wonderful! Each day we will drive to different areas of the park to see more wildlife variety. John and Dixie work closely with the driver-guides to make sure everyone gets more photo opportunities than they expected, and we rotate vehicles to allow everyone to meet each driver-guide. John and Dixie always ride in separate vehicles to share their knowledge with participants.

When you enroll, you will get John and Dixie's detailed article about photographing on a Kenya safari. The way we handle our camera gear and how we set up the camera will help enormously to photograph quickly and precisely.

Nairobi Jomo Kenyatta Airport

Arriving at JKIA:

Upon arrival at Jomo Kenyatta International Airport (JKIA) please make use of the standard "fly-bridge" or

"airport bus service" for the transfer from aircraft to the terminal building. Follow the signs through to "passport control" where you will be met by Origins Guest Relation staff. Then on to baggage collections and customs." There we will be led out by more Origin's Staff to their vehicles.

Departing from JKIA:

You will be accompanied by an Origins Safaris Guest Relations Officer to the "second security check point at the departure terminal." It is worth noting that there are currently three layers of security to access and depart from the airport. On approach to the airport, you will be required to exit the vehicle you are travelling in and walk through a security checkpoint with scanners. Once you have cleared the scanners you will need to wait for your vehicle, which is also being screened. On arrival at the terminal, there is a luggage and body scan to enter the airport buildings. After this you may check in your luggage and pass through to document security and immigration. You will then take an escalator to your departure gate where you will pass through the final security checkpoint.

Private charter flight Cessna C208B Grand Caravan

The Cessna Grand Caravan C208B is a twelve-seat, single engine Cessna. Durable landing gear means you can count on smooth landings. The main gear is a massive steel tube linked directly to the fuselage. Its flexible design is perfect for grass, gravel, and even unimproved airstrips. The nose gear is engineered to absorb both vertical and lateral force by transmitting it to the fuselage. And large, rough-field tires contribute further to the Caravan's rugged flexibility. The Garmin G1000 glass cockpit integrates all primary flight, engine, and sensor data to provide intuitive, at-a-glance situational awareness, in a paperless cockpit. Our pilots have between 3,000 - 13,000 hours all incident free throughout their careers. Additionally, all pilots have FAA (USA) licenses in addition to Kenyan licenses and attend regular factory approved re-current training at Flight Safety International in Wichita, Kansas, where Cessna is based.

Testimonials

It has been almost a month since we returned from Africa, and I am overdo thanking you. Mary and I wanted you both to know we totally enjoyed the entire trip. You both were excellent leaders, full of suggestions, and helpful in many other ways. The group consisted of wonderful and helpful individuals whom we bonded with easily. The hotels were fantastic, each a little different than the others. All the chefs outdid themselves in creating culinary delights. Wow! You stated that the trip would a trip of a lifetime and you were correct.

I would like to reiterate that we would like to attend the 2025-6 African Safari. This will be exactly two years after the safari we just attended. Please let us know the particulars as they become available.

Thanks for the panoramic group shot. We had it printed at Roberts and it looks great. We will get it framed shortly.

Thank you once again,

Andy & Mary

Wildlife and landscapes galore. Sifting through 32,000 images and I am amazed at the number of keepers. Cannot wait to return!

Thanks for a great photo experience in Kenya. It is always fun to travel with other avid photographers, and to be able to spend our days focusing on getting great shots!

Our guides were knowledgeable and personable, the flights between parks gave us additional time to experience the wildlife, and the lodging was also unique and helped give us full immersion in the safari experience.

I believe another member of our group said it best.....as we were preparing to head to the airport and return home. He said, "I know the trip is over and I'm just ready to be back home," but he added that he would easily have remained for another few days to see and photograph more wildlife. I felt the same way, and I think that says it all!

Figure 4 Due to heavy rains in November, the normally dry Samburu was super lush with new green leaves when we arrived to photograph this group of reticulated giraffes.

Figure 6 Every safari offers something new! In more than 40 safaris, this is the first time John has seen the aardwolf!

Figure 12 Eland with calf. The short rains in Kenya occur in Nov. and Dec. By early January, things are drying out and most areas are quite green, and the wildlife often have youngsters with them.

Figure 13 Our group on the 2023-2024 Kenya safari. Note: Three land cruisers are not pictured. We only have three participants per vehicle. The more vehicles, the more you find as each vehicle has a radio to let the others know about a special photo opportunity such as finding a leopard, cheetah, or lions.

Figure 14 Dixie was wise to include more of the fabulous landscape in Amboseli because this shows the Masai giraffe and common zebras among their acacia tree and grass plains home.
